

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to the use of an alkaline or alkaline earth metal chondroitin sulphate, which comes from an enzymatic hydrolysis of animal cartilage, for the preparation of a medicament for the treatment or prevention of psoriasis with skin affection in a mammal. Preferably the sodium chondroitin sulphate has an average molecular weight between 10,000 and 20,000 daltons, and is administered orally.